VARIATIONS OF HUMAN HAIR EXTENSIONS

The difference in human hair extensions is in how they are prepared and where they are sourced. They can be washed, wetted, cut, flat ironed, curled; blow dried and pretty much everything as ordinary hair. It is a big mistake to assume that extension hair will feel exactly like your own hair. The extensions will require high maintenance and high end products. The highest quality hair will feel closer to your own natural hair and is easier to maintain.

Temporary quality hair

This is hair that requires a lot of maintenance and we recommend it to clients who are experienced in using products and invest in high quality products for maintenance. This is also a recommendable to someone getting extensions for the first time. This allows one to try extensions without over spending to see if generally the feel and idea of extensions is tolerable to the client before moving on to high quality ones. These can also be a good idea for a short glamorous event.

Medium quality hair

This allows you to enjoy your hair extensions with less tangling at a pretty affordable price. This hair still requires a lot of maintenance. The hair is not remy ; meaning some fibres may be upside down(cuticles facing different directions).

High Quality Hair (Remy, Brazilian, Peruvian, Chinese, Malaysian)

This is soft manageable hair which will save you time during your beauty routine. Remy hair means all the strands are facing the same way as they would if they grew out of your head. The cuticles are in the same direction which means less tangling. The hair will last much longer than the two above. This hair can be dyed so it can still last longer you if you decided to change your hair colour. It is recommended you use semi-permanent hair dye, lightening is not recommended.

Highest quality Hair (100% Virgin Remy Hair)

All hair is facing the same direction as if it were growing on your head.

VARIATIONS OF HUMAN HAIR EXTENSIONS

This is extremely gorgeous hair that is always soft and beautiful and more expensive. It gives body and natural movement of the highest quality human hair. This is designer quality hair and the closest you are going to get to having hair that looks and feels like your own.

Because the cuticles are intact and going in the same direction as the hair that grows on your head, the hair has a beautiful natural lustre that you don't see on other types of hair. Also the cuticles protect the hair and prevent tangling giving you long lasting, easy to manage, soft beautiful hair.

This hair basically came off a donor's head, can be coloured and can be used over and over again.
